She could lose man for man with your Government, and then have 18,000,000 soldiers left after your army had been totally annihilated. She could place more soldiers in the field than America and Europe combined. An ignorant journalist in the City of Mexico sneers at the courage and military strength of the Americans, and calls upon his Governmentto dispatchan army of conquering Mexicans to the City of Washington. "In the Dispatch of last Thursday good reasons were given why the price of corn will advance very soon. Since that date a small appreciation in values has occurred, but it it still so very low priced that a purchase made now will certainly double the investment within thirty days. For the sum of $150, placed in a National bank in this city, 5,000 bushels of shelled corn may be controlled as absolutely by the investor, as if in his own grainery. The undersigned has received orders within a few days from our best informed merchants for the purchase of 140,000 bushels of corn. SECRETARY SCHURZ ON SHERIDAN'S REPORT AWASHINGTON, November 19.—The Secre-tary of War received and referred to Gen. Sherman a letter from the Secretary of the Interior, sharply replying to certain state-ments by Gen. Sheridan in the latter's annual report.

Secretary Schurz says: These statements as far as they reflect on the conduct of the Indian service, are of a sweeping and somewhat vague nature, but it must be assumed that Gen. Sheridan would not have made them and permitted them to become public had lie not in his possession specific information concerning certain agencies and certain branches of Indian service to which these statements may be individually applied. Gen. Sheridan, in his official document, gives it as his opinion, that, with wise management, the amounts appropriated by Congressought to be sufficient, if practically applied to the exact putposes specified, but that the "reports of the department commanders would indicate a different result, except in the case of the Red Cloud and Spotted Tail bands of Sioux." He would certainly not have expressed such evidence without being acquainted in deyould certainly not have expressed such pinion without being acquainted in detail with the appropriations made by Congress, and the specific purposes for which they were intended. It is also to be supposed that hefore making the sweeping charge above quoted, he was cognizant of the specific cases in which these appropri ations were not either applied at such facts as may be in his possession, giving the names of the agents, dates and other circumstances which warrant the charge, which includes all the Indian agencies in Missionri except those of Red Cloud and Spotted Tail Sioux. Northwest, has prepared and sent to the State Department, an elaborate paper to be transmitted to the above famed association, giving the results careful study concerning the prospects and available means for an extension of our commerce with Mexico. Mr. Foster states that the prohibitory tariff and the revolutionary condition of Mexico, form great obstacles to any extended foreign trade, and until they are removed our merchants will as a general thing continue to find more inviting markets elsewhere, but he asserts, novertheless, that there is a limitred field which may be occupied by Americans, and regards it as entirely feasible and safe for American manufacturers to continue their efforts in kindred branches, and establish in the City of Mexico warehouses for the exhibition and sale of the products of their factories. In this way local merchants and consumers will have a practical display of the superior merits of American goods and wares, and their sale can be gradually increased and a permanent market created.

LORD BEACONSFIELD ON THE CALL FOR AN RARLY MEETING OF FARILAMENT.

The committee to urge an early meeting of Parliament, in view of the war with Afghanistan, having asked Lord Beaconsfield to give them an interview, the Premier has written a letter to their chairman, Lord Lawrence, in reply. Lord Beaconsfield says he is at a loss to perceive what useful purpose can be served by a more extended expression through the deputation from the committee of the opinions which Lord Lawrence and others have so frequently and copiously explained in regard to the assembling of Parliament. The Government will, as a matter of course, be prepared in the event of commencement of hostilities in India to advise Her. Majesty to make such communication as the letter and spirit regulating the relations of the Crown with India may seem to require. This would seem to be a not less satisfactory and scarcely less constitutional mode of meeting the occasion than a series of memorials and deputations. The papers relative to India will be published before the end of the month.

Lord Lawrence's Committee to-day passed a resolution regretting Lord Beaconsfield's refusal to receive the Deputation, and emphatically condemning his apparent determination, in the event of war being declared, not to advise Her Majesty to consult Parliament until hostilities have begun. The Committee adjourned till Friday, and decided meanwhile to collect signatures to the protest.
